Carvers at Showcase

By Diane Balch

The Carving SIG (Special Interest Group) had a great time at Showcase 2024. There were fifteen carvers, from fairly new carvers to long experienced, all displaying and demonstrating a variety of carving techniques. Tony Lisosky displayed his 18" tall Teddy Roosevelt and Quantum Parker and a Buffalo. Bonnie Lisosky displayed some of her beautiful chip carvings.

Jack Connell displayed two native African Tribal masks. Al Doty displayed a variety of birds, caricatures, and animals. Suzie Usher had a clever display of small animals and caricatures. Scott Hunter was busy carving a bird. Pat Jenkins was busy chip carving golf balls. After removing the outer covering, she chip-carved an intricate design, making an ornament. Diane Balch was carving fur on her large eared donkey.

Showcase Raffle

By Marilou Pudiak-Town

The Raffle Table had a very good year in spite of the weather. It is always a chance to meet old friends and make new ones. There were a lot of smiling faces throughout Showcase, but the best ones were on the children's faces. They seemed more involved this year with the Toy Factory, the Scavenger Hunt, and the magician. As for raffle items, tools and musical instruments were big draws, but the donated variety of boards was probably the biggest draw of our tabletop items. The canoe always draws attention to our corner, so I hope we get one again next year. The Union College black walnut table brought plenty of ooohs and aaahs. (See photos on page 6) The bowls and hexagonal table rounded out the options for ticket buyers.

People were very happy with the door prizes which were gift certificates to Lee Valley and cans of poly finish. These were gifts everyone could use, even those not dedicated to woodworking.

We also had a scavenger hunt for the first time. It was a hit. The little ones loved the game, and this kept their parents not only in the Vendor Area but had them visiting all the vendors. Two parents said the game allowed them more time at Showcase. While the children looked for Wedgie, the parents had time to talk with the vendors.

Toy Factory at Showcase

by Andy Moss, Mid-Hudson Woodworkers Toy Factory Chair

The Toy Factory, which is run by the Mid-Hudson Woodworkers chapter, has been in existence for over 20 years. During the year, our members regularly get together at a member's shop to construct parts for wooden toys that we help kids put together at Showcase. All toys are given to the children for free. This year's toys included planes, helicopters, totes, bird houses, tanks, cars, boats, tractors, and trucks.

We bring the parts to Showcase and set up our five custom-built workbenches. A member sits at each station and guides the children in putting together their toys. These toys are unfinished and predrilled by us for nails, axles, or other components.

This year we brought parts for 476 toys. As you all know, the snowstorm on Saturday severely limited attendance so we did bring back more than usual. That said, both days saw kids standing in line to make the toy(s) that they wanted. If desired, they could build and take home more than one toy. There is nothing more fun than helping kids put together a toy. They really are excited to be able to hammer nails or axles and make something themselves. For us, it is loads of fun helping the kids...what a rewarding experience.

In addition to the toys, we set up several power tools (drill press, band saw and sander) to make repairs or adjustments in case a toy part needs a tweak. This also lends a "workshop" look to our factory. We also have a scroll saw which is used for demonstrations and to make small giveaways for the kids.

I want to thank the many volunteers, both from the Mid-Hudson Woodworkers chapter and from the NWA membership that donated their time to help fill our workstations. We could not have done it without you. We hope all those that volunteered will consider returning to Toy Factory in 2025, and we welcome other members to join us as well.

NWA Store

By Linda Reiss

Even a crazy snowstorm didn't deter shoppers at the 2024 Showcase Store. In fact, we had higher sales during the storm than on the fair-weather Sunday! Members showed their support and woodworking chops again this year with a beautiful selection of small, useful items like shoehorns and dough scrapers, as well as beautiful creations like bowls and cutting boards.

The store also displayed items on consignment from members and the ever-popular selection of excess library books which we offer at bargain-basement prices.

Sales this year, over $3,000, topped last year which was a tough act to follow. A very big thank you to everyone who donated items for sale and to the many volunteers who managed pricing, store set-up and sale transactions.

Turning: One way to Discover the Joy

By Walt Pazderski

I have been an NWA member for some time. I never thought I would EVER take part in the turning of wood. Then I came across “the chunk”. It was a very large section of indeterminate wood. I wanted to make it into a countertop caddy to hold kitchen utensils.

After thinking about how to fabricate what I wanted without using a lathe, two things became very obvious. #1 - using a lathe was the best way to achieve what I wanted and #2 - I had no idea how to properly use a lathe

It turned out my NWA membership carries many benefits. One benefit: there are a large number of instructional offerings on a large number of topics. One is a “Turning for Beginners” class. The class, taught by Stanley Blanchard, was outstanding. Stanley is knowledgeable, patient, and passionate. I learned a LOT in a very short time.

My NWA membership combined with the successful completion of the class enabled me to use club equipment to fabricate my piece (the wood turned out to be elm). If you have any thought to try turning, I highly recommend Stanley’s class. It sure turned me around!

KWA and Mid-Hudson Woodworkers to Build a Common Workshop

By Wally Cook

It has taken years in the making, but the stars have finally aligned to go forward with an NWA outpost in the Mid-Hudson Vally. A common workshop will augment outreach for those members who live too far from the LCOC activities.

Up to this point, various interest groups have met at different locations: The Kaatskill Woodturners (KWA) have gathered at the Opdahl property in Hurley in a reconfigured four-bay garage, while the Mid-Hudson Woodworkers (MHW) have had limited access to space at the Hudson River Boat Building school.

Work is now underway to clear and level the site; construct a driveway and parking lot; and lay out electric connection to the proposed building. A contractor has been selected to lay a concrete slab and begin construction in July. Equipment residing at the Opdahl building will be moved in June and temporarily stored in the container on site.

It's an exciting time and an exacting schedule. Most of the funds have been raised, but a last fund-raising drive will put us over the top. Many thanks to the individuals who have helped to support this effort!

The KWA was informed that the Opdahl space needed to be vacated in 2024, while repeated flooding events have interrupted MHW dedicated time. As a consequence, a search was commenced to find other venues for hands-on work. A solution was found that allows the MHW and KWA to relocate together at the Jim Lee property in the Town of Ulster.

Jim and Debby Lee have guaranteed a 25-year lease for part of their property adjacent to the NYS Thruway. The proposed site would locate a 20'x40' building on a concrete slab, along with a commercial storage container to house lumber and materials.

An example of the builder's work in progress for another customer. The concrete slab is poured after the poles have been set.
